Message from Federal Minister for Human Rights

Dear friends,

It is with great pleasure that I present the annual report of Child Protection Institute (CPI), reflecting the incredible leaps and strides we have made in safeguarding the rights and well-being of children. As the Director General of CPI, I extend my heartfelt appreciation to each and every one of you, who has contributed to the cause.

Among a multitude of issues we addressed this year, the plight of children on the streets has been our particular focus; including child labor, drug addiction, neglect, and the social security of young mothers. We recognize the urgency of these numerous challenges; that include exploitation, abuse, and limited access to education and healthcare. Our multifaceted approach to tackling this issue has involved not only rescue and rehabilitation efforts but also advocacy for policy change and community awareness campaigns. By actively engaging with stakeholders and advocating for the rights of street children, we are striving to create a safer and more inclusive society where every child can flourish.

While we celebrate our achievements, we also acknowledge that there is still much room for improvement. CPI is still in its infancy, and we are constantly learning and adapting to better address the evolving needs of vulnerable children. We appreciate the need to continuously innovate, collaborate, and use creative ways for resource mobilization. Our commitment to continuous improvement drives us to explore new strategies, leverage technology, and enhance our capacity to deliver effective child protection services.

Sustainability lies at the core of CPI's vision, and we have taken deliberate steps to ensure the long-term impact of our work. By forging partnerships with governmental bodies, non-governmental organizations, and philanthropic entities, we have been able to leverage resources and expertise, amplifying our reach and effectiveness. These collaborations have played a pivotal role in strengthening our programs, enhancing our service delivery, and building a robust framework for child protection. We are committed to nurturing these alliances and exploring innovative avenues to foster sustainability, making a lasting difference in the lives of children.

I am immensely proud of our dedicated team at CPI, whose unwavering commitment and relentless efforts have yielded exceptional results. Their passion, professionalism, and compassion continue to inspire me and serve as a driving force behind our accomplishments. Together, we have transformed lives and instilled hope in numerous children and families.

As we embark on this journey to protect and empower the most vulnerable members of our society, we humbly recognize that CPI is still in its nascent stage. With your continued support and collaboration, we strive to overcome the challenges ahead, refine our approaches, and expand our reach. Together, we can build a society where every child is cherished, protected, and given the opportunity to thrive.

Thank you for your unwavering support.

Warm regards,

Rabeea Hadi,

Message from Federal - Minister for Human Rights

Dear Friends,

The constitution of Pakistan (1973) is the primary legal document which protects and promotes the rights of all citizens of Pakistan. These constitutional guarantees have been further translated into adequate laws, policies and institutional setup to protect the rights of all citizens including vulnerable segments of Pakistani society. In this regard, Ministry of Human Rights and its attached departments/ organizations are working relentlessly at Federal level to ensure implementation of these constitutional safeguards and other relevant laws, policies as well as Pakistan's international commitments. Protection of the rights of children is one of the primary area of focus and concern for this Ministry.

A number of legislative and institutional arrangements including creation of Child Protection Institute (CPI), Islamabad have been made to address the challenges in this area. The CPI has prepared its first annual report to showcase its remarkable achievements and progress made in the past year. During this period, the Child Protection Institute has tirelessly strived to create a safe and nurturing environment for the most vulnerable members of our society-our children. Through an array of initiatives, programmes, interventions we have worked towards preventing abuse, exploitation and neglect and providing comprehensive support to those affected.

The Ministry of Human Rights is further strengthening this institutional framework through establishment of another Child Protection Institute for girls in Islamabad as Public Sector Development Project. In addition to that, a Child Protection and Case Management and Referral System (CPCMRS) module has been developed in collaboration with UNICEF to digitally monitor such cases and to ensure systematic and efficient disposal for these cases. Ministry of Human Rights is committed to ensure infrastructure development and allocation of adequate financial and human resources for CPIs to support its work without any hindrance. Ministry of Human Rights is mindful of all challenges in this era as well.

Therefore, it will further strengthen its collaboration with Governmental Organizations, civil society organization and international partners to enhance Child protection policies and practices. Together, we can create a future where every child in Pakistan can thrive, free from violence, abuse and exploitation.

With sincere gratitude and warm regards,

Ali Raza Bhutta

Executive Summary

The Annual Report offers a comprehensive overview of the Child Protection Institute (CPI) in Islamabad Capital Territory (ICT), encompassing its achievements, obstacles, and future endeavors. The CPI, established under the ICT Child Protection Act of 2018, is dedicated to safeguarding vulnerable children by providing them with essential protection services such as shelter, rehabilitation, counselling, and family reunification.

Since its inception in June 2021, the CPI has diligently served 224 children, extending support in the form of temporary shelter, medical assessments, counselling, and successful reunions with their families. The report highlights the collaborative efforts undertaken by the CPI, in conjunction with key stakeholders including ICT Police, Islamic Relief, ILO, UNICEF, and local health units within the ICT.

Moreover, the CPI has actively conducted community awareness sessions, training workshops, and consultations to promote child protection awareness, fortify the existing system, and foster enhanced collaboration among various entities. The report also provides valuable data on the age distribution of children served by CPI and outlines the different types of cases encountered.

In addition, the report also includes our success stories that demonstrate the positive impact of CPI's interventions. While acknowledging the accomplishments, the report also identifies several challenges faced by the institute. These include the pressing need for a purpose-built facility, the development of mechanisms to address diverse cases of child abuse, the establishment of clear power and function systems for child protection officers, and the allocation of sufficient logistics and human resources.

To progress further, CPI has outlined a comprehensive roadmap. This entails the certification of child care institutes, the formation of child protection committees, the implementation of effective case management systems, collaborative efforts with social welfare departments, and community sensitization initiatives. Despite these challenges, the CPI remains resolute in its commitment to provide comprehensive child protection services and further strengthen partnerships to ensure the well-being and protection of children within the ICT.

Success Stories

TRIUMPH OVER ADVERSITY: FROM A STREET CHILD TO A STUDENT

1 KM was living a rudderless life of hardships and addiction on the streets. The 13 year old was referred to the Child Protection Institute (CPI), our team immediately took action. We rescued him from the streets and provided him with comprehensive care and support. Through counselling, education, and rehabilitation, he overcame his drug addiction and found solace in his studies. Today, he is a diligent student at a school in Bahria Enclave, excelling academically and dreaming of a brighter future. EMBRACING HOPE AND A PATH TO SAFETY AND FUTURE

M and A, two neglected children, faced a challenging start in life. Found unattended in a park, they were malnourished and vulnerable. The Child Protection Institute stepped in to ensure their safety and well-being. With the support of Group Development Pakistan (NGO), we provided them with immediate care and protection. Recognizing that their mother was unable to provide a stable environment, we coordinated with the Child Protection and Welfare Bureau (CPWB) in Lahore to secure a nurturing home for the girls. Today, M and A are thriving in CPWB's care, receiving education, love, and support. Their story reminds us of the importance of collaborative efforts in safeguarding vulnerable children and offering them a chance to flourish.

A HOMECOMING

A, a 13-year-old boy ran away from home, found himself in a vulnerable situation. When the ICT police referred him to the Child Protection Institute (CPI), we immediately acted to locate his family. Despite facing challenges in tracing his parents, we persevered and eventually reunited him with his family in Karachi. With the support of the CPI and Roshni NGO, his parents were empowered to provide a safe and nurturing environment for their son. A's journey home symbolizes the importance of reunification and the commitment to restoring family bonds for the well-being of every child.

NURTURING SAFETY AND PROTECTION: A STORY OF HEALING AND ADVOCACY

N, a 1.5-month-old girl, became a victim of physical abuse. The Child Protection Institute intervened after she was admitted to PIMS Hospital. Despite facing challenges in obtaining medical legal certificates and locating her guardians, we diligently pursued justice for her. We coordinated with relevant authorities and initiated efforts to ensure her protection. While the road to justice is long, N's case highlights the significance of probing suspected abuse cases and advocating for the rights of every child.

These success stories exemplify the dedication and impact of the Child Protection Institute in transforming the lives of vulnerable children and advocating for their rights.

Challenges and Opportunities

CPI faces several challenges and opportunities in its efforts to provide services and protect children. One of the main challenges is the construction of a customized building on the allocated plot in Sector H-11. This is essential to create a suitable and dedicated space for CPI's operations. Another challenge is the recruitment of technical staff for specialized positions to effectively deal with children on streets and address their specific needs.

The lack of equipment due to austerity measures poses another challenge, hindering the smooth functioning of CPI. Additionally, the current financial situation and austerity measures present obstacles in terms of resource allocation and financial support. The opening of CPI's bank account for donations is also an important challenge that needs to be addressed to enhance the institute's financial sustainability.

However, alongside these challenges, CPI also has several opportunities for growth and development. The establishment of CPI for Boys in H-9 and the approval of the PC-I for the establishment of CPI for Girls at the ICT level are positive steps towards expanding the institute's capacity to cater to the needs of more children. The allocation of land in sector H-11/4 by the CDA for the establishment of CPI provides an opportunity for future growth and a dedicated facility.

Collaborative efforts and partnerships with various organizations and stakeholders present further opportunities for CPI. The letters of agreement with Islamic Relief for legal aid and psychological support, with ICT Police for rescuing children, and with organizations such as ILO, UNICEF, and Child Protection and Welfare Bureaus enable CPI to pool resources, shall strengthen the child protection system, and ensure successful implementation of planned activities.

Furthermore, the reconstitution of Child Protection Committees in collaboration with NGOs in different areas, as well as the development of a Module on Child Protection Case Management and Referral System, provide opportunities to enhance community-based structures and support services. The trainings and awareness sessions conducted by CPI, in coordination with various organizations, contribute to raising awareness about child rights, child protection, and GBV, thereby creating a more informed and empowered society.

While CPI faces challenges related to infrastructure, recruitment, and financial resources, it also benefits from opportunities for expansion, collaboration, and capacity- building. By addressing these challenges and capitalizing on the available opportunities, CPI will continue and expand its role to protect children, and contribute to the overall well-being of society.
